Opening speech -

- Lets face it, we have all been in a class at some point and felt lost to some degree. But what it comes down is the course of action you decide to take after. This options can one of [x amount of times]

1. you abandon it, give up
2. you reach out to your professor or TAs
3. you find some help online or ask your friends.

But at the end of the day... what you know & what you don't is completely to everyone, and the professor cannot tailor to every specific knowledge background.

Opening Speech

Lets face it, we have all been in a class at some point and felt lost to some degree. But what it comes down to is the course of action you decide to take after. I think there are atleast 1 of 3 actions.

1. you abandon it ,or give up
2. you reach out to your Professor or TA for further explanation.
3. you find some help online or ask your friends

At the end of the day what you know and what you don't is completely circumstantial to everyone, and ^{the} professor can't tailor to everyone's unique knowledge backgrounds.
